

2016 Danielcode Tutorial Online Video Program Available Now

11/01/16 to 12/16/16

We started offering an online version of our comprehensive 3 day live tutorial about 18 months ago as an alternative for clients who were unable to make the trip or take the time to attend our live sessions and they have proven to be wildly successful with some outstanding traders graduating from these programs. For our tentatively scheduled Down Under Summer tutorial I found that better than 90% of those who are already booked for this tutorial requested the online video version so with that demand we are dedicating 11/01 to 12/16 as the period in which I will conduct the online tutorials.

What You Learn

The full 2016 Futures and Forex trading syllabus is taught at the online tutorials.

Attached separately is the syllabus for our May 2016 tutorial in Los Angeles which sets out the depth of the teaching that you will enjoy at this event. The short version is the online sessions cover all of the material that you would learn at the live session and as these sessions are exclusively hosted by Master Trader John Needham, he is able to tailor your teaching sessions to cater for all levels of trading experience. If you are new to trading we will teach you how: if you are a seasoned trader we will make you better.

The Danielcode is a unique method of understanding and analyzing markets and the trading that this analysis creates. It is totally unlike any trading system you may have seen or heard of before and creates specific “Time” and “Price” signals that are unknown to others. We released the Danielcode to public view in December 2008 and since then it has consistently shown its superiority as documented in our various published articles and videos. I have been trading markets for over 30 years and can honestly say that I have seen them all and nothing I have ever seen or heard of compares to the Danielcode methods.

At these tutorials you will learn everything from analysis from daily bars all the way up to long term charts, creating trade orders and stops to selecting markets, setting targets, forecasting future price action and the esoterics of The 4th Seal, that mystical point where “Time” and Price are Squared” at which point a market turn becomes almost inevitable. All trading involves the management of probabilities. As in life there are no certainties but I can say that once you have completed the Danielcode tutorial course you will (hardly ever) be surprised by markets again.

How The Online Teaching Works

All teaching is conducted by John Needham personally

We start with 4X2 hour one-on-one sessions using GoToMeeting from Citrix Systems which is the companion program to the GoToWebinar program that we use for our fortnightly webinars.

Many of you are already familiar with this application. You will need an integrated microphone and headset. These initial sessions are pure teaching conducted in a two way manner that answers all of your questions as they arise

We then have 4X1 hour sessions where you will be joined by others in your tutorial group. These sessions are conducted at roughly fortnightly (two weeks) intervals which will run from after Christmas through to February. For these sessions participants are asked to email questions to highlight areas of the teaching that require reinforcement. Having a group submit their questions is a great way of raising areas of concern as problems for one student are often common to the group. During this time you are encouraged to undertake trading of a simulated or paper account so we can get a view on the progress you are making. The common theme that we see after many years of teaching is that those who put in the most work become the best traders. Knowledge or prior experience is not a requirement for this course as nothing in the Danielcode relates to anything you have seen before. In fact some of our very best traders came to me without ever seeing a trading chart, whilst others in our “Gun Traders” list tried for years but really hit their jackpot with the knowledge that the Danielcode tutorials impart.

You can at any time after the teaching concludes request a one-on-one session to review your trading.

As part of the tutorial we extend a 31 day free trial of everything on the Danielcode website and as partners of Trade Navigator we can arrange a 31 day free trial of the TN software, charts and data for you. Our programs run on Trade Navigator which I have used exclusively for over 20 years but most can be adapted to run on other packages if you already have a favourite charting program.

The more of my articles and videos you have read and seen at www.thedanielcode.com the more feel you will have for what this teaching entails with the proviso that fully 90% of the tutorial material is in detail and at a level that is not available at our website or elsewhere. In particular I recommend that you read the two “Master Class” articles at our website under the Articles tab to get an introduction to the concept of Danielcode “Time”.

All of your online sessions are recorded and placed on one of our secure servers so you can review them in your own time and as often as you wish. This has been a huge part of the online teaching as all of the new material and concepts you will be exposed to can be a little overwhelming and having the chance to go over your recordings is the thing that is most lauded by our students.

My fee for the online tutorial is US $7500.

What You Need To Do

Email me jneedham@thedanielcode.com that you would like to take the online tutorial

Choose 4X2 hour periods that are convenient for you. I can do 4:30PM to 6:30PM and 8PM to midnight all US ET any day. Ideally we need to have the first 3X2 hour teaching sessions on consecutive days or nearly so. You will just need your headphones and an internet connection.

For those of you who have already done a Danielcode tutorial you are most welcome to attend this online training session. Some of what you will learn will likely be new and other parts will be reinforcement. A 50% discount of my fee is offered for previous tutorial attendees.

What Others Have Said From Members Forum

The following comments were posted in the DC Members forum by some of the folks who attended our May 2016 tutorial in LA and also some who chose the online teaching option. I thank all of them for their support.

I'm a couple of days in to a 1 on 1 tutorial with Mr Needham and am truly amazed at John's understanding of markets.

God puts certain folk on this earth for a reason and encourages them to seek. Only the wise shall understand. John certainly does understand and I am overwhelmed at his generosity to share the workings of the Daniel Code after years and years of searching.

After only two sessions, and with some hard work, I know this knowledge is going to allow me and my family to achieve extraordinary goals.

I just can't tear myself away from the charts!

It was great finally attending the 2016 LA Tutorial and got the information I was looking for to enhance my trading to make money instead of guessing. I debated years whether I should go or not.. was it worth the cost but in trying others I always came back to the Daniel Code. I tried the DC a year ago but did not have the trading rules we got at the tutorial so I am much better off today. Thanks to John and all his work to put this together and his enhancements at each Tutorial. Looking forward to the follow-up webinars to reinforce the trading strategy and nice to meet John and all.. thanks

It has been a week since attending the 2016 LA Tutorial and my head is still spinning from all the information provided to all attendees. Many thanks to John Needham for sharing this life changing discipline. I learned a lot, and have a lot to learn. - Looking forward to the follow-up webinars. It was a pleasure, and honour meeting John, and John Jr. in El Segundo. A great time was had by all!

I attended the 2016 LA Tutorial. This was my third. As the prior two were years ago I approached this as a beginner trader. The material was amazing, illuminating and like borabora said a little overwhelming. The tutorial was worth every penny. Thank you John for giving me the confidence that I can and will trade to support myself.

I attended the 2016 LA Tutorial. Being a beginning trader, the material was a little overwhelming but I have no doubt that John Needham is the real deal and the tutorial was worth every penny. The tutorial is the easy part, applying what I have learned will take hard work, discipline and self motivation. Nothing good comes easy but only through hard work. The material presented was truly illuminating and my opinion of Mr. Needham is that he is a modern day prophet with amazing analytical skills and practical knowledge. If you want to learn from the master, attend the next tutorial or sign up for a one on one session.

Thank you John for opening my eyes to something that can transform your life to say the least. Glad you made it home safely.

We finished the Daniel Code tutorial at El Segundo today, and I feel the need to share my observations with you.

John Needham is a very rare, special person who has an incredible understanding of what works and what does not in the trading world. My head is still spinning with all that we learnt over the last few days, but we have been given a toolbox of clear rules, techniques and strategies that actually really do work.

I have been trading for 26 years barely keeping my head above water, but this changes everything. John was a great teacher, mentor (on going) and host, and I cannot thank him enough.

Hey John good day to you. I just want to say that I have been trading off and on for twenty some odd years. What I have learned in these few tutorials I have never seen done in that way, and is awesome. The money potential from these techniques will far surpass the cost of the tutorial. I am truly grateful for coming across thedanielcode. I see a definite rosier path in the near future. Thanks again John.

Session 4 of the tutorial was completed over the weekend and I have continued back testing and sim trading the DC strategies John so clearly and concisely taught.

The absolute accuracy and consistency of the DC is astounding, almost magical. Actually, Biblical. I'm particularly enjoying the opportunities presented by Waterfalls (and Staircases) and the Hook turns. Applying 4th/5th Seal, Moon Beams and DC time cycles for increased probability is icing on the cake.

I'm already significantly more confident to now hold trades for (much) larger returns rather than taking early profits. I've just received the tutorial recordings which are going to be invaluable. Having said that I can't wait for the opportunity to attend a tutorial in the not too distant future.

Thank you once again John for so generously sharing such an important discovery.

John has been my trading teacher and mentor (and friend) since before the Danielcode came into being. Over the years it has been an incredible journey of discovery and learning that never stops. That is because the Danielcode is constantly evolving as John uncovers new and remarkable insights into how the markets work. At every tutorial John reveals his latest discoveries that continue to improve my trading even after all these years. In fact the most advanced trading tools that John teaches have come out in the last twelve months and I am very excited about how these will develop in the year ahead. As with any profession, to stay on top the learning never stops.

Hi John, looks like you are changing more lives for the better with the video trainings and tutorials mentioned below this post.

I have to say that personally I don't think there is anything quite like attending a live Danielcode tutorial, however, the video training and video tutorial option were very welcome additions to the Danielcode Menu Of Delights for us last year when we couldn't make it to LA. Unfortunately, at this stage, that is the case again. I'd love to be attending, and a little pre-tutorial sunbathe and sojourn in Hawaii on the way would be rather pleasant too.

For those attending the LA tutorial, I hope we will meet one day soon. The benefit of being in a room with Mr Needham on a daily basis cannot be underestimated. A magical transformation occurs in the very chemistry of one's brain. Clarity and focus appear - once the fear and confusion dissipate (there's a lot to absorb!).

The key to grasping the content is practice. Lots of practice. And then ask questions. The follow-up trainings are offered for a reason.

After each tutorial I have attended, I got up extra early each morning for weeks afterward and while the world slept around me I practiced the skills I had been taught. Because that was the first thing I did each morning, they quickly became etched on my brain. After the most recent December tutorial, all the new things I had learned once again had to be practiced. Now I can spot waterfalls and staircases sometimes without even being on the appropriate chart built for them.

The worst thing for me is knowing that I'm going to be missing out on a whole pile of revelations that Mr Needham is going to shower the LA tutorial attendees with. Lucky you. Keep your ears and eyes open. There'll be magic in the air and you'll miss it if you don't stay focused. You owe it to yourself to listen and learn
